4	To safeguard and defend our rights	Legitimate interest	We have a legitimate interest in exercising and defending our rights

3. Recipients of your personal data

Your personal data may be transferred to the following categories of recipients:

a. Service providers (processors)

We reserve the right to appoint external service providers in connection with the expressions of interest for molecular water research at European XFEL. These service providers will only have access to data they need for the performance of their service. Service providers will be appointed as so-called data processors which are only allowed to process the personal data on our behalf and according to our documented instructions. We disclose your data to the following categories of processors:

- IT service provider (e.g. Deutsches Elektronen-Synchrotron DESY, for hosting service, computing infrastructure), Germany

b. Other recipients

We generally do not disclose your personal data processed in connection with expressions of interest for molecular water research at European XFEL to third parties.

Depending on the required expertise to assess your project, we may, however, disclose your personal data to external experts/referees.

Furthermore, there may be exceptional cases, in which this personal data can be provided to the following categories of third parties: Lawyers, tax advisors, consultants, external auditors.

Additionally, personal data might be transferred to third parties if we are obliged to transfer the data by statutory provisions or by an enforceable order of a court or an administrative authority. We may also release your data when we believe this is appropriate to comply with the law or one of our policies (e.g. our Scientific Data Policy), or to protect our or others' rights. Furthermore, we may transfer data which has been rendered anonymous to third parties for statistical purposes.

The parties mentioned above can be located in the European Economic Area (EEA) as well as in other countries. For transfers of personal data to countries outside the EEA see next section.

4. Transfers of personal data to countries outside the EU/EEA

The service providers to whom we transfer personal data in connection with the expressions of interest are based in Germany (cf. Section 3. a. above), so there are no transfers to service providers outside the EU/EEA.

If external experts or referees are located outside the European Union (EU) respectively outside the European Economic Area (EEA), we base the transfer on Art. 49 (1) b) GDPR as the transfer is necessary for the implementation of pre-contractual measures taken at the data subject's request.

You are entitled to receive an overview of third country recipients and a copy of appropriate or suitable safeguards in place. For your request please use the details provided in section "Contact Information".

5. Duration of storage

After the end of the assessment of your project and in case the feedback to your expression of interest is positive, after we provided you with the appropriate instructions on how to proceed and the follow-up is ensured through a specific call for proposals on molecular water projects, we will delete your personal data with the exception of those data that we need to store further for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.
